How to: Almost all the free graphics found online are created by hand and they are done so by somebody at some point or another. The process when someone does it themselves therefore is more time consuming than when it's done by a computer. This isn't always obvious and it's often time consuming to find out – for us. While these hand made graphics are great and have an amazing resemblance to our original work we often need to edit and remaster them in order to make them looks more like our real-time results.
